

i was in a good mood yesterday.

Digital Fortune Cookies or The poetry of Flickr

The following is a collection of actual comments left by Flickr users, commenting on other users' photographs. For the most part, the comments are quoted in their entirety and unedited (spelling errors and grammatical mistakes were not corrected). - JMC

I don't know much, but I do know I like this.

its amazing that everyone seems to be looking right at the camera...

for some reason i have never been able to emotionally involve myself in robert frost's stuff.. but this makes me reconsider. it also makes me reconsider the way i've been eating berries.

the delicious taste of wet juice all over your fingers as you realise life can never be this good the top reminds me of a broken mirror, though in this case it's a magical broken mirror with one large shard left showing us a portal to another world.

I cannot find my purchase as the layering of the image moves forward and retreats simultaneously, leaving me to weave in and out and lost and found and lost again...oh my...

my eyes are sucked out of my head with the kiss of this image and poetry her soft alluring gaze, my backyard is concrete hell

She'd be a beautiful holographic fascicle.

her alabaster skin just jumps out of the black.

and are those gold finches in her hair?

interesting thoughts, like your philosophy

Am I watching the unfolding of a story, or a person?

Honey breast

I usually don't comment a technical, but here especially, Depth-Of-Field = <3

she has really nice futures

it feels like you live inside a movie.

The gasping, tenacious, staggering brutality of the beauty you hunt (and by which you are, in turn, hunted) sings desperate, desolate ghost songs which vibrate me to the core of my being.

her body is a masterpiece woowww, what tits !!!!!!!

Kind of erotic but intense.

i feel like i'm right there and i'm comfortable.

good moods are good.
i was in a good mood yesterday.
not this good, but i was happy.

I have ruined my fair share of film. It sucks.

Sometimes I like the solitary slow tink of the tank.

a very faint ringing in my ears, not sure why.

good work with the light on the subject. works great to bring out the beauty of the subject and the lust of the male viewer like me.

The unsurpassed beauty almost bates my breath!

I like the Cafe au Lait macule on the abdomen know that it is a splendid portrait

her skin is divine

As white as milk

I've come back to it too, but I think it's the smile do you realize the dust spots from the scan make a crooked smile across your chest? how very apropos.

there's that batik scarf i love can we form an orderly queue to kiss the bruised knee?

beautiful! but why in KS?

what a sweet little elephant shirted boy!

this make me want to read a book.

her breasts look plastic, like not plastic surgery plastic but actual plastic.

she looks like a maniquin.. or however you spell that.

nice use of argyle socks!

very beautiful breast, very beautiful photo!

water is so necessary.

Love the face of the model...
and the vanished look...

i need to shoot more ass shots, i think. . . .

you manage to make all these white butts look so good this is my favorite ass shot so far.

well done, and somewhat rare at the same time.

seriously, it makes a statement.

I love this photo on like 18 different levels that I'm way too tired to list right now.

Those faces would creep me out.

just noticed the hair tails could double as miny wings on an angel while the eye-brows support the horns....

that face is priceless...

beauty in her eyes, with some sort of surprise or melancholy

The posing is really great, and the explicitness of the image is a surprise.

I am bored of complimenting your lighting style already.

relatively good start.

The girl clearly has powers.

from the thumbnail she looked like she was on a mural of the earth.

Horizontal stripes make Kylie look fat.

this is beautiful, you have a talented capture.

many of your shapes are not so dark.

The water and her expression seem interchangeable.

The single can on the grass...

i like the way you expressed the model

this is easily one of the sexiest photos I've ever seen, and it still would be, even if you cropped it square just above her thumbs.

Man that is good hair.

a lovely last year leftover given springtime vitality through your treatment..

this little branchy feels very proud and happy to me.

it could have been so awkward, and yet she turned it into a graceful display.

It's that light emerging from the crevice that caught my attention.

The embedded rock is shaped like a womb for your curled up model.

Can hardly wait to see the fetus grow.

you are so soft and beautiful.

A great combination of geometry and emotion.

Your lips are perfection.

it's hurt but sweet..

a shame for your knees but what a cool detail the tie, I love that touch i like your ribcage/chestbones.

and your floor. its pretty.

did you install it yourself?

oh, how handy of you.

Whoa I really like the Illumination here

I like the pose in this one. You seem to be a very deep person.

The contrasts of the floor is making me sick you're hilarious man...I just hope you don't hurt any feelings...

Very creative to take advantage of the stain on the floor.

You forgot the canola oil.

The focal length of 12mm does a god job here!

her skin is just right and the tv in the background is a cool effect.

imnotic eyes.

I think you nailed it, this time you see I told you before your mouth is just waiting to photographed!!!

incredibly hot you you. I had to turn on a fan and take off my shirt.

flower is still absolutly fine

It's always good to shove it to the edge.

your hands tell the story

i like their accent

Charming bottom. Lovely hair. Now I want coffee.

her veins drives me nuts.

Beautiful, just like on tv.

Why is wind so sexy?

Loved the colors!

This photo has something special inside

Love the three perplexed objects on the right, wondering if it's art